

Camp Soulajule at Walker Creek Ranch

2009

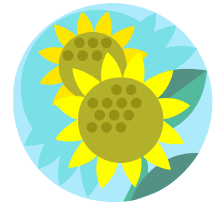

Camp Soulajule is a residential art and ecology summer camp for 8 to 12 year olds, plus a leadership training experience for 13 - 15 year olds, operated by the Marin County Outdoor School at Walker Creek Ranch. An abundance of wildlife, a four-acre swimming pond, 20 miles of hiking trails, a nearby beach, a nature museum, and a low elements challenge course make the Ranch an idyllic summer camp venue. Many students are familiar with Walker Creek Ranch as the site of the 5th and 6th grade Outdoor Science School. The focus of Camp Soulajule is on fun, nature, learning, and an opportunity for campers to prepare themselves for leadership roles. We believe in creating an environment where children are encouraged to be themselves while being a part of a supportive community where laughter and respect are embraced.
